

Local Students Complete Degree at University of Utah

13 June 1985

Two local men were among more than 1,000 students who were awarded graduate degrees at the 116th commencement exercises at the University of Utah in Salt Lake City.

The commencement was held Saturday, June 8 in the Special Events Center on campus.

Fred W. Friendly, former president of CBS News, gave the commencement address.

Diplomas were awarded at separate college convocations later in the day when students are recognized individually.

The total number of graduates this year was approximately 4,421. The University's current enrollment is approximately 25,000.
